†The Azamara Assurance Price Protection Program applies only to guests in the fifty states and Canada and applies only to bookings that were fully deposited prior to the expiration of this program. Guests who have a qualifying booking booked at a higher fare can receive the difference between that fare and a lower fare advertised or offered by the applicable Cruise Line in the form of an onboard credit. The guest must request an adjustment to their fare by contacting Azamara Cruises at least 48 hours prior to the scheduled departure time for the guest's cruise. The lower fare must be a) available for the same ship, sailing, category and number of guests as the current booking; b) available at the time the request for rate conversion is made; and c) a rate program that is not limited to new bookings only. If the lower rate is available under any of the following special price programs, it shall not be available under this Price Protection Program: Deluxe Deals; Travel Agent, Interline or Industry Reduced Rates; Employee rate programs. The Price Protection Program does not apply to any berths that are part of contracted group, any charter arrangements nor does it apply to any space that sold to a third party for resale. The Price Protection Program applies to cruise fares or cruisetour fares only; there is no price protection for government taxes and fees and/or fuel supplement charges. This Price Protection Program may be discontinued or modified at any time without prior notice and shall be void where prohibited or restricted by applicable law.
